Study sheet (zero and first conditional)

Zero conditional	First conditional
FORM: If+ present simple+ present simple USE: We use this structure for facts that are generally true. e.g. If I eat too much, I feel sick.	FORM: If+ present simple+ will/won't USE: We use this structure to talk about things that may happen in the future. e.g. If I don't hurry , I will miss the bus.

Remember :

When the subject is singular (he, she , it) the verb takes (s, es, ies) and doesn't+ infinitive for the negative form.

If it rains , I will stay inside. - If it doesn't rain, I will go outside.

When the subject is plural (I, they , we , you) nothing is added to the verb and for the negative use don't + infinitive.

If they go to the park, they will have fun. - If they don't go to the park, they will be sad.

1) Complete these sentences using the correct tense of the verbs in brackets (zero or first conditional)

- If itrains..... (rain), the groundgets..... (get) wet. zero
- If she...doesn't study...(not study), she...won't pass....(not pass) the test.first
- Youget.... (get) sick if youeat.....(eat) too much.zero
- ...Will sally be... (Sally/be) angry if they.....arrive..... (arrive) late again? first

2) Put these facts about various types of people into sentences in the zero conditional. Make you the subject of each sentence.

1. Doctors treat people who are ill.

If you are ill, doctors treat you.

2. Vegetarians don't eat meat.

If you are vegetarian, you don't eat meat.

3. Teachers have to work very hard.

If you are a teacher, you have to work very hard.
